This workshop helps learners understand and recognize the differences in "normal" and "not normal" aging. The workshop emphasizes the value of matching helping behaviors to the person's needs and retained abilities to promote a sense of control and self-direction, and addresses typical issues that occur throughout the progression of dementia. Using the Positive Approach "care partnering" techniques, including Positive Physical Approach™ (PPA™) and Hand-under-Hand™ care partners learn to shift from simply "dealing with behaviors" to creating a positive and caring environment.

By the completion of this workshop learners will be able to:

1. Compare and contrast normal aging versus not normal aging related to various cognitive functions.
2. Describe the five sensory input and processing systems, highlighting the dominant role of vision, and the major differences between protective and discriminating sensation in each.
3. Discuss the impact of changing sensory awareness and processing as dementia progresses
4. Describe changes in visual processing that impact a person's ability to initiate interactions and respond to efforts to communicate and interact that are initiated by others, when dementia is present
5. Discuss the rationale that supports each step of the PPA process.
6. Demonstrate hand-under-hand technique in at least four out of seven possible applications (greeting, comforting, attention, mobility, task initiation, tool/utensil use, and participation in tasks & activities)
7. Discuss purpose and value of using hand-under-hand technique with people living with dementia
